With a Scientist

Guest Scientist

Kay Yang
Engineer

Kay Yang loves three things - tinkering, robots, and dinosaurs! So, she combined them all to create Tinker the Robot where kids learn hands-on science and engineering! She's a professional engineer turned educator. Before founding Tinker the Robot, she worked in several industries from biotechnology, defense, consumer products (making toys for Mattel), and cleantech. In her spare time, she enjoys eating, sleeping, and hanging out with her toddler.
